NOTORIOUS CROOKS CAUGHT IN OSHKOSH

WALL STREET BOMB SUSPECT IS HELD IN PITTSBURGH

ZELENKO IS ARRESTED AFTER REMARKS TO STRANGER ON TRAIN.

HAS DYNAMITE

Carries Suitcase Containing Explosives, Refers to N.Y. Disaster.

(Ex ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
New York, Oct. 4.—Renewed vigor was instilled today in the investigation of the origin of the mysterious Wall street explosion on September 16, as a result of the arrest at Pittsburgh yesterday of Florio Zelenko. One account of Zelenko's arrest in Pittsburgh, where a suitcase filled with dynamite was found in his room, federal agents visited the Brooklyn address he gave when arrested and established these facts:

Facts Are Established.

That Zelenko left his room at 470 Cleveland street, in the foreign section, an hour or more before the disaster.

That he carried a reddish yellow bag.

That he formerly was employed by the Hercules Powder company.

That he left in his room a large quantity of alleged radical Russian literature.

Konkel Tells Story.

Leon Konkel, a steam fitter, the man who gave the information which led to the arrest there last night of Florio Zelenko, of Brooklyn, in connection with the Wall street bomb explosion, arrived here today from Pittsburgh, to tell his story to the federal authorities.

Konkel told agents of the department of justice that while he was travelling from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh with Zelenko, the latter informed him that he had explosives in his suitcase and gloated over the Wall street explosion. Konkel said that he had been afraid after he had seen dynamite in his traveling companion's suitcase at a Pittsburgh hotel.

If Konkel's information leads to solution of the New York disaster, he is eligible for $25,000 rewards offered in the leading to the arrests of the guilty parties.

17-YEAR OLD YOUTH DROWNS IN RIVER

Defeated Soviet Troops on Northern Front Retreat in Disorder.

(Ex ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Warsaw, Oct. 4.—War and peace plans proposed simultaneously by Senator La Follette, and the United States secretary of state Saturday night will be an independent candidate. His papers were carried to the secretary of state's office shortly before midnight by L. B. Nagler convicted by the federal court under the espionage law of being a spy for Russia. J. Allen Long and C. B. Ballard, all nonpartisan leaguers. Other nominations filed for the independent tickets were C. B. Ballard for state senate in the district in which his home county, Outagamie, is located, and H. E. Kinslow for La Crosse, for the seat in the 32nd district against F. Clark of Galesville.

It is stated here that candidate for attorney general, Judge A. C. Larson of Eau Claire will pull out of the race on the democratic ticket, leaving the field open to W. J. Morgan, a humorist that N. T. Gilmore would file for lieutenant governor did not materialize.

Beds Near Collapse.

On the Polish northern front it was announced the cavalry pursuing the Russians has reached a point less than 45 miles from Minsk. In various sectors the Bolsheviks were reported near Warsaw. In one sector an entire brigade was captured entirely without a fight. It is expected that perhaps the river may have to be dynamited before it can be recovered.

Sheriff Fred Baley was called to the scene Sunday and assisted in the search.

FATHER-SON WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE IN NOVEMBER

As many societies and churches of the country wish to use Father and Son week which has become an annual national event, as an impetus for the winter's work the week will be observed in the fall this year, November 4-10, instead of in February, as formerly.

Societies which aid in this work and the observance of this week in this city are the Y. M. C. A., the churches, the school and the Boy Scouts. Because of the recent change of date of the week, no preparations have yet been made for the activities, the biggest of which is the banquet. Several of the churches also have banquets and appropriate sermons are preached.

Even greater success here is expected than last year, which was the most successful held.

AUTOS DAMAGED IN RIVER ST. CRASH

Coming together at the corner of Pleasant and South River streets, two autos were slightly smashed late Saturday afternoon. Miss Dolly Taylor, Monterey, driver of a roadster, says she was proceeding west on Pleasant street on her proper side when the other car, a touring machine driven by John Lynch, grocer of Madison and Ravine streets, cut the corner short coming onto Pleasant from River. She turned to the right to get out of his way, she stated, when his machine, a new car, crashed into the side of her car, breaking a fender, bending the axle and splintering spoke of the back wheel. The other car was damaged as the radiator and front wheels.

Marriage Won't End Career

Mrs. Gordon Sarre.

The marriage of Ruth Shepley, well known actress, to Gordon Sarre, New York exporter, last July at New Haven came to light recently when the stage star confirmed the report of the secret wedding. Mrs. Sarre says the wedding will not end her professional career.

Five Children Die as Flames Sweep Home

(Ex ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Merrill, Wis., Oct. 4.—Five children were burned to death, when fire destroyed the farm home of Ed Nelson at Irma, near here, early today. A sixth child was partially burned.

The dead are:

Harriet, aged 14; Edna, 13;

Roy, 12; Roland, 10, and Adelaine, 5.

Lester, the sixth child, lost his right hand as a result of the burns.

The fire started shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. The 6 children were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom and their parents occupied a room downstairs.

It is assumed that a lantern left burning in the upper bedroom started the fire.

Crane is Laid to Rest With Simple Rites

(Ex ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Dalton, Mass., Oct. 4.—A simple funeral in keeping with his way of life marked the funeral today of W. Murray Crane, former United States senator, ex-governor of Massachusetts and millionaire manufacturer. The body, in a brown leather casket, lay in a flowered bedchamber on the hill, while neighbors, mill workers, leaders of industry, politics and finance, and other friends, strewed past for a farewell view. There followed a service of scripture reading, hymn recital and organ after which church bells tolled and the family, assembling in private at the village cemetery a short distance from the Crane estate, listened to the burial ritual. There was no hint of eulogy, except probably in the prayer.

As a mark of respect to the memory of Mr. Crane, a bell had been declared for most of the workers of Dalton and Pittsfield.

Gov. Coolidge, Lieutenant Governor Cox, members of the governor's staff, executive councillors and legislators came from Boston.

THREE NOTORIOUS CROOKS CAPTURED IN OSHKOSH

Oshkosh, Oct. 4.—That the arrest of three men and the suspension of three more, all suspected of being implicated in the raid on the Exchange bank, Oshkosh, brought the capture of three of the most notorious and clever crooks in the country, developed Sunday. One man was positively identified as a murderer and gangster, long sought by the police. Another was declared for most of the round-robin and the third, it is expected, will also show a criminal record, although his identity was not clearly established. The man who claimed he was Edwin Rogers and who is considered the leader of the gang of considerable size, is known to be Joseph James Meehan, alias West, who was convicted of murder in the state of Ohio.

Robbed St. Paul Bank

E. E. Cannon, president of the St. Paul National Bank of St. Paul, on Sunday was positive in his identification of Rogers (Meehan) as a member of a gang of robbers who looted that bank on the night of last June, the cash $4,000.

C. H. Clark, Cannon's son, will present his identification of Rogers Saturday morning.

13 Eggs A Day From 17 Young Pullets

Mrs. Niles Starts 6-months Old Pullet Laying. Tells How.

"Early in November, I bought a pack of Don Sung and started giving it to 17 day pullets. In the first 20 days they laid 108 lovely eggs all through the month of December, 13 eggs a day." - Mrs. E. E. Niles, R. R. 2, Leath's.

Mrs. Niles found how to start young pullets laying and laying in winter. The same method helps hens through the moults and starts them laying again. You can test this out.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a special tonic. It adds to the animal's strength. It feeds, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, too, so she can lay no matter how cold or wet the weather.

You can obtain Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer.

ANCIENT ORDER OF HIBERNIANS.

Janesville, Wis.

Oct. 2, 1920.

Dear Friends:

You are earnestly invited to attend a very important meeting of the friends of Ireland to be held at the annex of Eagles hall Wednesday evening, Oct. 8, at 8:30. Several prominent speakers will be present among whom there will be F. J. Hayes of New Jersey, who is thoroughly posted on the situation as it stands today.

Every American citizen that loves liberty, truth and justice and has a drop of Irish blood in his veins should attend this meeting. We are sickened at the atrocities of the Hun in Belgium, but our own kith and kin is murdered in cold blood and their homes sacked and burned by what is called English soldiers. Should we stand idly by without raising our voices in protest? Let us get together and in a calm cool way determine what appears to be the best course to be adopted to end this terrible situation.

We think it only fair to state our policy plainly in justice to present Nash Six owners and those who contemplate purchasing this car.

Nash prices cannot be reduced because present prices represent the actual intrinsic value of the product plus a profit sufficient only to maintain manufacturing operations.

That is a plain statement of fact.

We cannot buy the high grade materials used in the Nash Six any cheaper.

We cannot buy the skilled labor employed in the making of the Nash Six any cheaper.

These two factors determine price. Until materials are lower or labor is lower, no one can manufacture such a car as the Nash Six for less money.

We say no one advisedly because here in this great plant covering 101 acres of ground and employing 5000 skilled workmen, manufacturing costs are reduced to their lowest level.

Here, the Nash Six is manufactured 93% in its entirety.

We have every advantage that large resources and a well established business afford—the purchase of raw materials on a big scale, perfected manufacturing processes and the distribution of costs over a large output.

This insures minimum production costs for each individual car.

That is why the Nash Six has always represented exceptionally high value.

The savings made by our manufacturing methods have been given to the buyer, keeping the price of this car at the lowest possible figure.

Consider this fact.

Since 1917, while prices of all commodities have been soaring,

NEW CHURCH IS NEARLY FINISHED

First Christians Hold First Complete Sunday Services in New Building.

It was with a feeling of thankfulness that the members of the First Christian church assembled Sunday morning in their new church which had been completed since the time it was begun, before the first service was held in it. Volunteers have cleaned up the debris of plaster each week so that regular preaching services could be held on Sunday.

Straight Gospel Sermon.

At the morning service yesterday Rev. H. T. Brown preached a straight gospel sermon on the text, "I came not to call the righteous but the sinners to repentance." The theme was "Jesus as a Preacher" and he quoted many quotations from the Bible, the attitude of Jesus toward sinners and publicans, toward the good rich sinners like Zacheus, the humble beggars like Lazarus and the disreputable ones like the woman at the well. In the latter instance he said to the man who had come without a cent in his pocket, "Go, give me all thou hast." But the sinner said, "Go and sin no more." "Sympathy," he said, "was the secret of the power of Jesus, and is also the secret of the influence of the church at the present time."

Bethel Auditorium Seats 300.

The main floor is the auditorium, planned to seat 300, and with a small pulpit and choir loft. The second floor is arranged for one large parlor about 12x18 feet, a room for children, a choir room opening off on either side and is to be used for Sunday school and class work. The walls are in gray plaster, and the floor is Georgia pine.

Emmett Conors has recently remodeled the Conors home of Cherry street into two apartments. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gruber have taken the upper one.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gray, Rockford, have returned home. Mrs. Gray has been spending a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Stinson, 205 East street, while Mr. Gray attended a convention at Springfield.

Miss Jessie Butler, who has been a guest at the Beck home, 429 South Bluff street, will go to Beaver Dam Tuesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick La Rue. Mrs. La Rue was formerly Miss Katherine Stoldard of this city.

William Shiveley, Chicago, was the over Sunday guest at the H. V. Allen home, 202 Jackman street.

Miss Frances Field, Jackman street, who recently underwent an operation at Riverside, Wash., is rapidly convalescing.

Miss Elizabeth Schicker, St. Lawrence avenue, moved to Chicago Sunday evening to have the pencils on the outside of the building finished in dark green with ornamental white designs. The arches over the windows being of the white stone, and also with an ornamental hood over the front door on Third street. The heating apparatus has not yet been installed.

Considering the difficulty of securing a piano, the piano is to be sent to the church, John C. St. John, pastor, has agreed to have the piano in the church.

Miss Caroline Palmer, Logan street, left Saturday for Amburg to spend two weeks visiting friends.

MORGAN WILL NOT SUPPORT BLAINE

Republican Candidate for Attorney General Will Keep Faith With People Aiding McCoy

Oct. 4—William J. Morgan, republican candidate for attorney general and the only candidate on the ticket except Henry Johnson who subscribes to the nonpartisan platform adopted at the Madison platform convention of Sept. 2 issued the following statement:

Mr. Morgan's Statement

"I shall certainly adhere to the promise I made to the people in the primary campaign and support Robert B. McCoy for governor."

"I told the people frankly in my primary speech that I did not intend to stop fighting the nonpartisan league Sept. 7."

"At the platform convention I offered to support a plank endorsing the nominees of the republican party who stood on the republican platform which were in accord with its principles. When Mr. Blaine refused to do this the plank was not included."

"Knowing that the constitution of the non-partisan league required a declaration from a candidate that he would not support the league program before it gave its endorsement, I did not, of course, have much hope, unless the constitution had not been followed in Wisconsin, that Mr. Blaine would repudiate the league. Still, on the positive side, he had been doing his best, as many of the members of the league were induced to join it by false statements I felt it was only fair that he should be given a reasonable time to say so."

Blaine Given Time to Say So

"I sent word to him that he had the choice whether he would wear Townley's collar, as Frazier did in North Dakota, or whether he would repudiate the Townley gang and take the consequences, just as Koski did. I feel that he now had plenty of time to decide himself for the republican platform, if he intended to do so, and the fair inference is that he prefers to keep Townley's collar on."

To Support McCoy

"His refusal to accept the national party platform, he refused to endorse Harding and Coolidge, and his refusal to repudiate the league leadership, all of which he declined to do at the platform convention, he still wants in, and regular republicans who want to try to get the party back on its feet will do. We must go full speed in this and beat the league's candidate for governor by supporting Mr. McCoy. We must fight Townley's league to that end, it is thorough accor with the republican state platform in its opposition to the nonpartisan league. I prefer a democrat who says he stands with both feet in the republican party on purely states issues to an alleged republican who says he stands with both feet on the nonpartisan league platform."

"It is foolish to say that this endangers the national ticket. Harding and Coolidge will save the state in November and everyone who has been over the state will tell you it will be a landslide."

Blaine Will Not Get All

"Blaine will not get even the votes of all the farmers who joined the league. As fast as they learn the duplicity of the socialist leaders of the league, the farmers refuse to vote for league candidates. Two of the candidates for state representative, fighting on the floor of the platform convention for the plank that was adopted denouncing the nonpartisan league leadership were farmers who had joined the league. You can always trust the people who join the nonpartisan league, but you cannot stand the light of publicity on its record and its motives."

"In my own campaign the issue was clear cut, and the majority of nearly 35,000 which was given me indicates that the people do not want the nonpartisan league leaders to control this state. In the primary campaign, that all that was necessary to defeat the league candidate was to take the facts to the people."

Told People What He Would Do

"It is more than likely that with the socialist votes from Milwaukee the nonpartisan league will control the next Wisconsin assembly, and it is vital that the league candidate be defeated. It is far more important that the people who join the league should be governed than that I should be attorney general. That being true, I have no right to evade the vital issue merely for the sake of advancing my own election as attorney general. I do not feel that I have been taking this stand, because in every part of the state I told the people in advance that if Mr. Blaine was nominated and I was nominated that I would take the stump for Mr. McCoy, and I have maintained that position ever since I have been nominated. It must mean that the people want me to do just that thing, and I shall certainly keep faith with them. I was nominated on that program by the votes of over 174,000 citizens of Wisconsin, and they are entitled to a platform to express their wishes. There is no time for tampering. No half way measure will do. We must go full speed in this and beat the league's candidate for governor by supporting Mr. McCoy. We must fight Townley's league to that end, it is thorough accor with the republican state platform in its opposition to the nonpartisan league. I prefer a democrat who says he stands with both feet in the republican party on purely states issues to an alleged republican who says he stands with both feet on the nonpartisan league platform."

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM.

More and better houses. Curbing the rent prosperity. Open roads in the county 365 days a year.
Market pavilion and community house.
Home and club for working girls.
More parks and playgrounds.
Better street car service.
Make the city a place of welcome to visitors and new residents and not for their exploitation.
Pave streets as fast as possible until all are done.

THAT BUDGET IS UP TO YOU.

The city tax rate, the expenses for next year, the channels in which it will be spent, are up to the citizens either collectively or individually at the right now. The budget will be taken up at the meeting of the council tonight. It carries practically no new things needed for Janesville. It is not forward looking as it was made. It is up to the people to make it so.

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR JANESEVILLE.

Janesville is providing the people of the city with advantages of education in a night school and excellent courses of study and it should have the support and active aid of all heads of industrial plants and employing businesses where young men are working during the day. A few words of encouragement to the young man, a talk about the good the night school will do for him will be a most paying investment.

HARMONY.

It was a happy and harmonious thing, when the papers of James Thompson were filed Saturday night for the United States senate as the nonpartisan league candidate in opposition to Senator Lenroot, that the messenger with the documents should be L. B. Nagler, former assistant secretary of state, convicted under the espionage law in federal court of acts of obstruction. Mr. Thompson is a candidate. He stands with Mr. Blaine on the nonpartisan league and La Follette platform. That is sufficient comment.

THE VALUE OF A TREE TO A CITY.

The Gazette is in receipt of the following letter from a resident of the city:

"Two men have worked four days in hacking and chewing down two of Janesville's most beautiful shade trees on Cornelia street.
Is the pitiful little pile of wood worth the loss of this beauty?"

To grow a tree requires a generation or more.
For those trees cut down mentioned in the correspondent, a lifetime of waiting must be spent before they can be replaced. Janesville is noted far and near for the splendor of its trees and the beauty of the streets and yards they make possible. We must not overlook their value and as the years pass they acquire a value not to be measured in terms of solid money. Like one's children they have a price beyond any mere mathematical calculation."

MR. MORGAN

William J. Morgan, republican candidate for attorney general has done something unusual. He is keeping a promise made in his campaign for the nomination. Then he said that if he were nominated and if John J. Blaine were also nominated on a nonpartisan league platform, he, Mr. Morgan would support Col. Robert McCoy for governor. In a statement issued today Mr. Morgan tells the people of Wisconsin that he is going to make that promise good and will oppose with all his power the election of Blaine and the non-partisan league candidates.

Mr. Morgan is a refreshing addition to the field of politics. He says what he means and his actions show he means what he says. It is possible that the nonpartisan league will put another candidate in the field by Thursday, but so much the better. The issue will be joined then and the lines clearly drawn.

TWO CANDIDATES AND THE DIFFERENCE ON THE PROHIBITION QUESTION.

The difference between Harding and Cox on the prohibition question is shown in the reply both have made to the president of the National Temperance Council. Sen. Harding clearly states that he is opposed to the "reestablishment of the traffic" in intoxicating liquors, while Gov. Cox contents himself with the mere statement that the laws enacted under the eighteenth amendment will be observed and enforced. The only prohibition issue, or wet and dry issue is whether these laws to enforce the prohibition amendment will be repealed or continued. The fight the wets are making is to repeal the Volstead law and return to a semi-state of wetness.

Everyone knows, and the president no less than anyone else, that the eighteenth amendment is there to stay. Once in office it is the duty of the president to enforce the laws. We do not notice that the present incumbent is making any personal effort in that direction. Gov. Cox would be able to do about the same without violating his oath. But Senator Harding says he is opposed to the reestablishment of the traffic. And that is the main difference. Those who wish the saloon brought back have no hope from Senator Harding. This is what he says:

"I may say that I am opposed to the re-establishment of the traffic in intoxicating liquors and will use whatever influence or power I possess to prevent such re-establishment."

And Gov. Cox in his reply said:

"I recognize the Eighteenth amendment as a definite part of the constitution and the laws enacted thereunder will be observed and enforced."

"Missouri is doubtful," says Mr. Lawrence. A few years ago that state was so solidly democratic that most of its people thought Jeff Davis was still in office.

The football season is a week old and the casualty list so far contains nothing more serious than "slightly wounded in action."

Presidential Campaigns

BY FREDERIC J. BASKIN

THE GRANT-GREELEY RACE OF 1872.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—The presidential campaign of 1872 resulted in a tragedy—the insanity and death of Horace Greeley. It took the organization of the Republican party out of the hands of the men who had founded it and turned it over to another group of Republicans, in whose control it remained until after the rise of Roosevelt. It added to the lexicon of Democratic party historians the phrase "the Greeley boy." And, more important than all, it marked the beginning of the end of the political party organ newspaper, and was responsible for an independent press.

The Liberal Republican movement of 1871-72 was the most considerable defection the Republican party had suffered since its organization. Its effect on the party was not disastrous, but it carried into the Democratic party many of the men who were most prominent in the early days of Republicanism. It is a remarkable fact that more than two-thirds of all men prominent in the Republican conventions of 1856 and 1860 died Democrats, or Independents.

Even more remarkable is the fact that this great defection from Republican ranks was the result of a movement headed by Clement Vallandigham of Ohio. Vallandigham was the arch-Copperhead of the whole North, was arrested by General Burnside and banished to the Confederate States of America, and was exonerated by every loyalist north of the Mason and Dixon's line. Yet it was this same Vallandigham who, in 1871, in the famous Dayton platform, declared for the unification of all elements opposed to Grant on the basis of complete acceptance of the results of the war, the reconstruction policy, the amendments to the Constitution and so on. So radically did this policy differ from that formerly held by Northern Democrats that the Vallandigham movement was called "The New Departure."

The Democratic press, headed by the Missouri Republican, afterward the St. Louis Missouri Republican and the Louisville Courier-Journal, broke away from conventional moorings and heralded the "New Departure" as the political salvation of the land. The Vallandigham origin of the movement was lost sight of, and Editor Grosvenor of St. Louis and Editor Watterson of Louisville, became the leaders in the Democratic ranks.

Meanwhile, General Grant's administration was alienating old time Republican leaders by the score. General Grant was a great soldier, but his most ardent admirers cannot command his judgment in selecting men to assist him in civil administration. Scandals without number were continually arising. The Secretary of War, William W. Belknap, and the Secretary of the Navy, George M. Robeson, were accused of all kinds of graft. The New York Sun, then edited by Charles A. Dana, every day thundered against the "Roberts of Washington." Meantime General Grant was blind to many things and "blinded" to others, was too trusting of some of his advisers, and was attempting to run the whole administration on a military plan.

Horace Greeley raised the flag of revolt in the anti-slavery agitators in Cincinnatus, Clay of Kentucky and Hinton R. Helper of North Carolina, the premier southern abolitionists and Republicans, followed the "new departure." Their movement was crystallized by the merging of party lines in Missouri in an effort to gain complete amnesty for Confederate soldiers in that state. The Missouri leaders issued a call for a national convention to meet at Cincinnati.

To grow a tree requires a generation or more. For those trees cut down mentioned in the correspondent, a lifetime of waiting must be spent before they can be replaced. Janesville is noted far and near for the splendor of its trees and the beauty of the streets and yards they make possible. We must not overlook their value and as the years pass they acquire a value not to be measured in terms of solid money. Like one's children they have a price beyond any mere mathematical calculation.

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

A DAY AND A BOOK.
Old Brown was one who used to say: "Much like a book is every day—A book you want to read clear through and find just what you need. The story starts and causes doubts, but you know how it turns out: The hero gets in trouble, and appears to lose his sweetheart's hand, but in the closing pages, you find happiness and marriage, too."

I like his notion. Every day I start a story just that way, And as I stand before my door, I wonder just what is in store—What joy or sadness shall be mine Before I reach the closing page. What new adventure shall I take? What different road shall mine be? But though the writing may be bad, I trust the ending will be glad.

Now here's a new book! Just begun This morning with the ring of the bell. How many adventures hold, A thrilling tale that must be told. Someone perhaps may rise to fame And I may proudly speak his name. Across the current of my life, May blow the changing winds of strife, And I may cleave the wave to see What the story of life's mystery.

With interest the tale is filled: Men dream and toil and plan and build, And ever with the human race. Some wondrous adventure is in store, I will not say this glad day through. To know what friends of mine shall do, To learn, where now I stand in doubt, Just how the problem shall work out—To read this book of joys and woes, And know the story to its close.

Nero, sitting on the wall of his palace, censed twanging his lyre, and gazed at his favorite. "History," he said, "is wrong."

"How come, O noble emperor?" asked the maiden.

"History is wrong in that I am not going to allow Rome to burn while I twang my lyre and then go and fall on my own dagger. I know history says I have got to commit suicide, but life is sweet and I have an idea."

"Yes, yes, we are bound to let the Universe."

"I am going to take my lyre and go on a concert tour through America. Any foreigner can do it, even worse players than I can do it. And I'll tell the world I need the dough badly as the next one."

The health officer of Chicago warns us that another big epidemic is coming, so it is best now to know the precautions to take when you get the alarm. They are these, according to the best authorities:

Stay in bed, stay out of doors, don't breathe cold air, don't breathe hot air, take doses of whisky, don't violate the Volstead act, exercise great deal, sit or lie still all day.

We often find ourselves wondering what became of the aviator who started last spring to hop from Australia to the South Pole. Where did he hop to from there, if anywhere?

Who's Who Today

SENATOR H. L. MYERS.

Henry L. Myers, U. S. senator from Montana, and a democrat, has announced that he will not support the democratic state ticket in Montana, but will vote for Joseph M. Dixon, the nonpartisan candidate for governor.

"I had intended to offer my services to the democratic state central committee," Mr. Myers recently declared, "but upon my return from Europe I was amazed to learn that the Non-Partisan League, aided by a number of socialists and radicals, had entered the democratic primary, captured the democratic party of Montana, and nominated its entire state and congressional delegation to the national ticket.

Mr. Myers' speech was delivered in Montana the organ of state socialism, extravagance and high taxation which predicted the success of the Non-Partisan League, and he was received with enthusiasm.

Newspapers of great influence rallied to Greeley's support. John S. and Bennett of the Herald rallied for him in New York. Henry Watterson, today the only survivor of that era of journalistic giants, was in the very thick of the battle for Greeley and Reform. Alexander K. McClure, Murat Hinckle, Samuel Bowles of the Springfield Republican, Horace White of the Chicago Tribune, Frank Leslie and scores of others were declaring the election of Greeley and the defeat of Grant necessary to save the Republic. So bitter was the denunciation of Grant's administration that the press did not hesitate to take up Jere Black's statement that no tyranny was so bad as that of a "republic thoroughly rotten."

The Democrats met in Baltimore on July 9. Thomas Jefferson Randolph, grandson of the founder of the party, was chairman. The Cincinnati Liberal Republican platform was adopted and the change of a word, and Greeley and Brown were endorsed and nominated as the regular Democratic candidates. Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware and Daniel W. Voorhees of Indiana were the leaders of the party. The leading candidate at first was Charles Francis Adams of Massachusetts. Next to him was Mr. Greeley, and then Lyman Trumbull of Illinois, B. Gratz Brown of Missouri, David Davis of Illinois, Andrew G. Curtin of Pennsylvania, and the perennial Salmon P. Chase.

Greeley was nominated on the sixth ballot and B. Gratz Brown of Missouri was chosen for second place on the ticket. The Tribune and the most eminent newspaper man in the country, Brown, had risen to prominence as the editor of the St. Louis Democrat, since consolidated with the Globe to form the Globe-Democrat. It is the only instance that a national ticket was named composed exclusively of journalists.

Newspapers of great influence rallied to Greeley's support. John S. and Bennett of the Herald rallied for him in New York. Henry Watterson, today the only survivor of that era of journalistic giants, was in the very thick of the battle for Greeley and Reform. Alexander K. Everyone has said about them. The Republican orators helped them to remember. They did not remem-

In July or perhaps as late as August, it seemed certain that the Democratic-Liberal coalition would sweep the country. Many men believe the wave would not have receded if Adams or Davis had been at the head of the ticket. But Greeley was simple as a child, in practical politics, however able and profound able and profound he was in theory. No greater campaign speeches have ever been delivered than those made by Greeley on the stump in 1872. As he had denounced slavery in the South in the name of humanity, he now denounced carpet-bagism for the same reason. As he had denounced the political corruption of the slave oligarchy before the war, he now denounced the money corruption that was beginning its long reign.

A few days before the election, Horace Greeley's wife died. He had been at her bedside day and night for weeks, and he was exhausted from loss of sleep, and broken-hearted over her death. Then the election came. The Greeley ticket carried, but seven states and was in gloriously defeated. Three days after the election the strain became greater than the old man could bear, and the great Horace Greeley died to a prairie in Westchester county—an instant death. Fortunately the end came soon, and on November 29, Greeley died. Within a month after the election, the magnanimous Grant, President of the United States, stood beside the bier of the great Greeley whom he had beaten—the Greeley whose funeral had become a tragedy.

FORTY YEARS AGO.
October 4, 1880.—There were Republican railroads in Clinton and Cedarville Saturday night, which were both well attended. A large bay team got stalled near the depot yesterday morning and went running down Main street. The driver finally turned them into a fence and quieted them without injury to them or himself.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:

I've got your shirts done, Joe, and I'm sending them off to you today. I hope you'll like them. Joe though I know your aversion to pink and I must admit the material looks pinker in the shirts than it did in the piece. The color seems to be concentrated, if you know what I mean. I don't mean to say they're too pink for my taste. I merely mean to say they may be too pink for anybody that don't like pink. I had a real hard time with the collar bands. I originally intended to put on 15-inch collar bands because I know that's the size of your neck, but the shirts didn't seem to want to come out that way so I finally had to compromise on 16-inch collar bands.

It's lucky they're an inch too large instead of an inch too small, isn't it, Joe? When a thing's too small that's all there is about it, but when it's too large at least you know it's large enough.

Mrs. Pink stopped in for a cup of tea this afternoon and she said I was going to take a long journey on water soon and to beware of a thin blonde. While of course, Joe, I don't take no stock in fortune telling and never did, believing the future is a unknown book with no tea leaves in it, still it was mighty odd about that long voyage on water, because I happened to take a swim bath after Mrs. Pink left and I actually dropped off to sleep in the tub. Can you imagine that, Joe? Of course it might of only been one of those coincidences, but still at the same time you haven't met any thin blondes, have you Joe? Not that I'm superstitious or uncanny or anything like that, but you haven't have you Joe?

The baby has a new habit of laying there and keeping on opening and closing his little hands. I hope it's not a sign that he's going to be close listed like your rich Aunt Sophie. I'd much rather have him grow up without a cent but at the same time generous with it.

Yours loving wife
TESSIE.

MENU LIST
Sliced Bananas,
Cereal and Cream,
Panned Mush, Honey-
Toasted Coffee.
Luncheon,
Chopped Meat Sandwiches,
Potato Salad.
Apple Strudel, Cocoa.
Dinner,
Oysters on Half Shell.
Meat Pie.
String Beans, Steamed Squash.
Cucumber Salad.
Baked Apples.

TESTED RECIPES
Meat Pie—Cut the meat from left-over lamb into small pieces and place in a saucepan and add two-thirds cup of sliced onions, one medium sized carrot (peeled fine), sufficient water to cover, one-half teaspoon of sage.

Cook slowly until meat and vegetables are tender and then season and thicken slightly with gravy. Now turn into a baking dish and spread smooth and then spread as a crust a layer of mashed potatoes, having a layer of potatoes at least one-third thick over the. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Pudding Custards—This is purely an old reservation dish. The plums grow as big as small oranges and the tree are always blossoming and full of juice. Cleanse a glass custard cup and then take plums, wash and gash the skin with a knife and then place two cups of milk, three eggs, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon in mixing bowl. Beat to mix and then pour the cups with fresh custards. Set in a pan of water and bake slowly until the custards are set. A slow oven is necessary for this dish.

Squash Pie—One cup flour, one teaspoon salt, four cups soupspoon of lard (or fat), water, sugar and salt. Mix well with tips of fingers.

Stir in cold water, few drops at a time, stirring with a fork until moistened enough to roll. Roll lightly with floured roller and fill dough smoothly in pan.

Filling: Take squash until all water is evaporated. One cup cooked summer squash, two-thirds cup sugar, one egg, one tablespoon flour, two cups milk, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg. Add all dry ingredients and egg to the squash, beat well together, add water and stir, pour into crust. Bake in a moderate oven.

TO SERVE POTATOES
Think for a moment of the various ways in which plain boiled or steamed potatoes may be used. They are delicious if served with a cheese sauce, which may be made as follows:

Cheese Sauce—To a cup of plain white sauce add a third of a cup of more of grated sharp cheese and let the mixture boil over hot water till the cheese is melted.

Or the potatoes may be diced or sliced, the cheese sauce mixed with them, and the potatoes put in a baking dish, dusted with crumbled bacon with two tablespoons of margarine to top. Serve with a nice green salad.

Another delicious way to serve whole boiled potatoes is with an egg sauce, when the dish takes on the following name: Oakhill potatoes.

Egg Sauce—Prepare one and one-half cups plain white sauce. Sift into one tablespoon pimento or green peppers and four coarsely chopped onions.

Thousands of homekeepers everywhere have learned the everyday comfort of making Biscuitry a real part of daily fare. A supply of N. B. C. products always in the house—a package or two of a few varieties—means a great saving of time and labor and the ready solving of many a problem of what-to-serve.

Have an N. B. C. shelf in your pantry. The day-by-day convenience and appetite-satisfaction will well repay you. Every variety comes to your table oven-sweet and fresh, no matter where bought or when you open the protecting In-er-seal Trade Mark package.

Your grocer carries a complete line. A few packages on your pantry shelf saves constant re-ordering and enables you to meet any food emergency instantly and well.
